RE: Northway Pay Application No. 3, Well No. 6 Improvements

FOX P.N. 3424-15C.640

Dear Mr. Hinson:

The purpose of this letter is to provide discussion related to Bid Item #11 of Northway's Application for Payment #3. As a background to this discussion, this work item started after the installation of the new casing and grout. This work included drilling through the bottom of the grout shoe, removal of the rock supporting the casing during its installation, and cleaning any other debris from the well. The estimated quantity for this work item was 80 hours and the unit price included in Northway's bid was $235 per hour.

The quantity claimed on Payment Application #3 by Northway (295 hours) exceeded the bid quantity (80 hours) and the cost of the item ($69,325) charged by Northway is more than 10% of the contract amount for the entire project ($372,755.50). Per Article 13, subparagraph 13.03.E of the Supplementary Conditions of the Contract, whenever the actual quantity claimed by the Contractor exceeds 25% of estimated quantity of the bid item or the actual cost of the bid item exceeds 10% of the overall contract value, the cost cannot be charged to another bid item, and Owner believes that the quantity variation entitles them to an adjustment, then the unit price for the item shall be subject to reevaluation and adjustment.

FOX Engineering did not find information to refute the number of hours being charged by the Contractor. After hearing verbal work progress reports from the contractor about once a week, the Engineer questioned why so many hours of drilling were necessary. The Contractor claimed that the grouting apparatus did not hold in the grout inside of its vertical piping due to the high pressure of the vertical column of grout down to a depth of about 1400 feet. A seemingly large amount of grout spilled into the well and inside the casing. The Contractor claimed that there was no way to prevent this leakage and the quantity that is leaked varies every time they use this method of work. The Contractor did not inform the Engineer of a risk that actual quantity would greatly exceed the bid quantity.

The Engineer asked the following questions to the Contractor in writing after Payment Application #3 was submitted:

Does the contractor think that the bid quantity was too low?

- 2. Were the actual conditions in the well different than expected, requiring a change in means/methods required to grout the casing or drill out shoe?
- 3. Did the Contractor make a mistake with grouting the well which caused excess grout to spill inside the casing?
- 4. If the contractor did not make a mistake, could the problem with excess grout spilling have occurred with any contractor applying the same method?
- 5. Did a tool or mechanism break causing excess grout to spill inside the casing? If so, was the tool/mechanism in good working order?
- 6. What precautions did the Contractor make to prevent excess grout from spilling into the well at the end of item 10?
- 7. How common is it to have excess grout in the bottom, requiring additional drilling time to remove? (for example, it happens __% of the time on re-casing jobs)?

Northway's response to these questions are summarized in the enclosed letter. It is noted that FOX was not the Engineer for the projects listed in Northway's response letter.

During bidding, FOX contacted Northway and Cahoy about their opinions regarding the description of work for this project. Northway objected to bidding this work item under a lump sum basis and recommended to the Engineer that the item should be unit price due to its variability and that the estimated hours should be 80 hours. Cahoy was contacted and had no preference on the basis for the item. As such, the basis of this bid item was revised to unit price in Addendum No. 1.

FOX reviewed files from other recent Jordan well re-casing projects. From a sample of three projects, the costs ranged from $24,000 to $45,000. Two of the projects were done on a lump sum basis. One of these projects contained a proposal for re-casing work from Northway which included the same line item for drilling out the shoe and rock removal. The quantity recommended by Northway was 80 hours. This would appear to contradict the Contractor's assertion that the estimated quantity for this line item was "too low" as stated in its response letter to the Engineer on this project.

Since Cahoy was familiar with Well 6 and had been preparing a bid for this project (but ended up not submitting one), FOX Engineering contacted its project manager, Mike Whittenbaugh. Mr. Whittenbaugh commented that he would budget about 70 hours for this line item, using a cable rig for drilling, which was the same as what was used by Northway. He stated that the cable rig is a more expensive method to use, but necessary given that Well 6 has an unmovable well house enclosing it.

When asked how likely is it that grout gets spilled into the well during the grouting process, Mr. Whittenbaugh said that it happens to everyone at one time or another. He also commented that if the crew pulls up the grouting apparatus too fast and it hits the interior sides of the casing wall, this collision can jar and cause grout to be release into the well. For this reason, Cahoy assigns more experienced crew members for deep wells like Jordan wells to avoid costly mistakes.

In summary, the Contractor had reason to believe that the actual quantity had the potential to far exceed the estimated quantity, given the information in his response letter, but did not inform the Engineer or Owner. The cost of this line item exceeded the cost of the same line item under recently bid projects by a range of $24,325 to $45,325 and the estimated cost for this project by $50,525. The reason why the actual quantity exceeded the estimated was due to an excessive amount of grout spilled into the well by a machine/tool provided by the Contractor and operated by the Contractor.

It is our recommendation that the City pay for the estimated quantity of 80 hours for Bid Item #11 at the unit price listed in Application for Payment #3. For the difference between the actual number of hours and the estimated number of hours, it is recommended that the City consider negotiating with the Contractor, asking him to share in the cost of the additional work completed. Another component of this discussion is the additional weeks needed to complete the work item (215 additional hours charged or approximately 18-26 work days). Up to this point, the City has approved a total of 133 additional days for the Contractor to reach Substantial Completion. The original substantial completion date was April 21, 2017 and the current substantial completion date is September 1, 2017. Given the progress to date, it is likely that the Contractor will be asking for another time extension or risk exposure to liquidated damages.

Sincerely,

FOX ENGINEERING ASSOCIATES, INC.

Re: No Parking by Stewart Early Childhood Center Drives

The City received a request from Superintendent Dicks to look at a potential "no parking" zone on the east side of North 2nd Street by the new Stewart early childhood center drives. We had planned to get this on the agenda in June, but I unfortunately appear to have lost it in the shuffle over the summer. We are hoping to get this in place prior to the start of school, August 23.

Keith Henkel Re: FW: signage

I went up and measured the east side of North 2nd for no parking by Stewart West. Going 50 ft north and 50 ft south of the both drives, with a 20 ft area between the drives, the total distance would be 180 ft. This would go from the south edge of the house on the north, and be approximately in the middle of 802 North 2nd on the south end. This should not obstruct any issues with either properties, the south house (802) would be the only issue but this still gives them some room north of their drive to park on the shoulder plus their driveway. This should be adequate enough to have good visibility in both directions. FYI

Brent,

At the new entrance to the Stewart addition, can we request from the city a no parking area on the east side of north second to the north and south of the new entrance. Will greatly improve safety coming out of the drive. Also, there is a place in between two entrances that someone may want to try and park.

Is there a formal process to follow on this request? Does this email suffice?

Thanks
